

QUESTIONS

1. Is it ethical to collect a percentage of sales from a company? If so, should clients be informed about the financial arrangements?
2. What is wrong, if anything, with having material available for clients to purchase without the psychologist making a profit?
3. Is it ethical to “borrow” material from Dr. Ross? Should Dr. Ross refuse or not? Why?
4. Does one need permission from the publisher to have free films and recordings available to clientele?
5. What should be done with material that is not carefully scrutinized?
6. Is there anything unethical about rating books for clients?